GST AKA BNE ... into our wallets, that is.

HI!
I TAX
BOOKS.

AFTER a hard day of work, I don't need this GST on top of
it. I just need a beer.

HI!
I TAX
BOOKS.

BRIAN MULRONEY IS MY SHEPHERD

I shall soon want.
He leadeth me beside still factories and abandoned farms.
He restores my doubt about the Tories.
He annointed my wages with taxes and inflation
so my expenses runneth over my income.
Surely poverty and hard living shall follow the Tories,
and I shall work on a rented farm and live in a rented house forever.

Five thousand years ago, Moses said:
Pick up your shovel, mount your ass
and I will lead you to the Promised Land.
Five thousand years later, Pierre Trudeau said:
light up a Camel; this is the Promised Land.

This year, Brian Mulroney will take your shovel, kick your ass, sell your camel and tell you he gave away
the Promised Land.

I am glad I am a Canadian.
I am glad I am free
But I wish I were a dog
and Brian was a tree.

Sincerely
The People of Canada

GST will hurt

Up to $290 of tax-free money is available is available for university students as part of the proposed Goods & Services Tax. The credit is aimed at low-income persons who received a special form with their 1989 Income Tax return. The credit ranges from $190 to $290 and is available to all taxpayers whose net income is under $24,355. The recipient must be a Canadian citizen and be at least 19 years of age as of December 1989. The credit is not affected by the parent's financial status.

Students with limited incomes will suffer the most. Students are being charged the GST on parking fees, locker rentals and athletic facility memberships, cafeteria food, books and school supplies. Tuition, meal plans and compulsory incidental fees are exempt from the GST.

From the Editor's Pen

Well, here we are. Welcome to 1991 and all the delightful things that came with the new year.

I hope everyone had a safe and happy Christmas holiday and that Santa was good to everyone ( yes, that includes those darn Valley Boyz).

As you can see, the staff was hard at work this week putting together another information-filled (hardly any news) issue.

I guess by now, everyone and her/his dog is fuming over the new taxes. Here at Lambda, we believe G.S.T stands not for Goods and Services Taxes but for 'Go Screw the Taxes'. Heck, some of the staffers are still figuring out how to spell G.S.T. But, being the fabulous student newspaper that we is... , we're improving with the New Year right?

We promise to work hard, report the news and even use correct grammar. How's that for student dedication?

But, remember we still need you. Yes, you the students to help us out. Tell us about your club, write us a letter or just drop by to check things out. By all means though, do get involved. Make it one of your New Year's Resolutions.

Speaking of which..... Here's ours:

I promise not to dance on the computer desk.

Steve promises not to dance on the computer.

Chris promises not to hit fellow staff members.

Siobhan promises to date at least one of the Valley Boyz.

Kevin promises not to flatulate all year.

Denton promises to show up on Production Night.

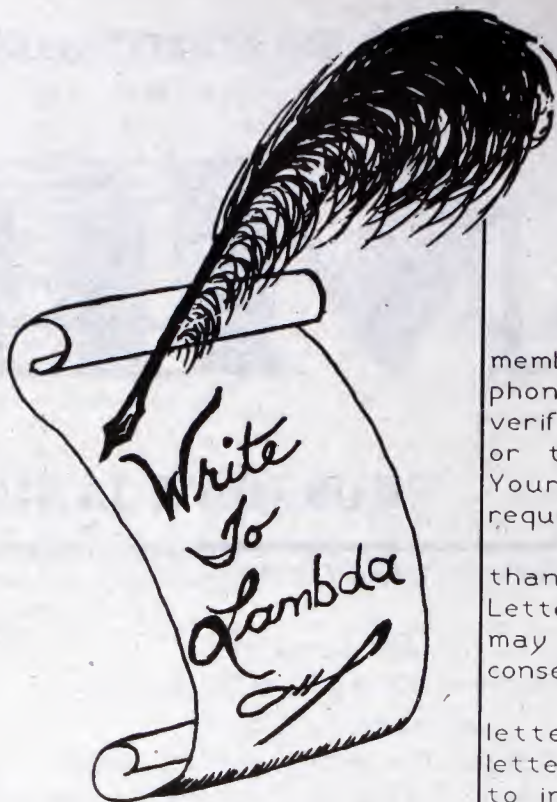

Tina promises not to 'HEEHEEHEE OOOO!'

Marlene is giving up smoking and tall blonde men.

and Dear Jillian promises not to bite!

Oh ya! I also promise not to do anymore silly editorials.

Happy New Year,
Tricialynn B.Morgan

Lambda Letters Policy

Lambda accepts letters from all members of the university community. A phone number must be included for verification. Letters must be written or typed double-spaced and signed. Your name will be withheld upon request.

Letters must be received no later than the Friday before publication. Letters longer than two hundred words may be edited for length with the consent of the author.

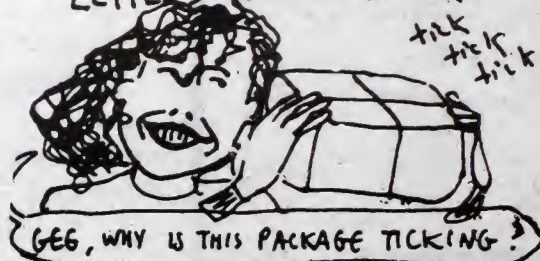

Lambda will publish as many letters as space allows; however, letters which are libellous, or attempt to incite hatred or violence towards individuals or identifiable groups -- including women, lesbians and gays, ethnic or religious groups, and people with a disability -- will not be published.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Why UCF?

Dear Editor,

I was appalled but not surprised to find out in Lambda that our administration commits over $1,000,000 to the Universite Canadienne En France in order that 4 Laurentian student may attend. This is totally absurd but typically Laurentian. Let's consider all of the ways in which the administration robs the students on this campus in order to pay for four students to live it up in France.

First of all they decide to double parking fees in student parking lots, but why stop there, let's put up parking gates to get some more money. All of this happens in lots which are outlets for block heaters. But that's not enough, we can use the profits from the grocery store on student street to help out our poor friends in France. This store charges $1 more for a loaf of bread than any grocery store I've ever seen. There are many more bargains at "Maffia Mart". Still short some money for our freinds in France? Romeo can chip in some of the exorbitant profits he rakes in from those poor clods in our rundown residences. On top of that he can charge students for damages that are never fixed. I know of a hole in one bedroom wall which its occupants have been charged for, three years straight.

Still short a few francs? Here's a plan. Let's set up an intramural hockey league and charge 16 teams $400 each to play. After two or three games we can cancel the league and keep the cash. They can even say its because Laurentian students play too violent and what the hell, maybe some fan will hop up on the boards, slug someone, and then we can blame it on him.

I am sure there are many other ways that the students here get taken to the cleaners, but no one here ever does anything about it anyway, so why bother. Just remember our millions of dollars wasted in France when the administration tells you that it does not have the money to run vital services such as the campus Canada Employment Centre.

Signed, A Concerned Student, who doesn't have the guts to allow his/her name to be included on this letter.

The following is a letter that was sent to the President of Laurentian University, Charles Belanger.

Dear Sir,

Less than a day into the new semester and "all hell breaks loose". My fourth year political science class (Constitutional Law: the Charter of Rights - POLI 4727) was bombarded Monday January 7th by the Director of the Department of Law and Justice, Professor Pallard. He attempted to strong-arm the students with threats and innuendoes into changing our scheduled time slot (2:30 - 5:30). My question to you is: What authority did he have being there in the first place?

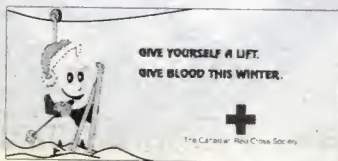

Professor Pallard, with his "little" power trip has irritated over forty senior students with his empty threat of cancelling this class which is a prerequisite an therefore, by extension, he implied that if we did not go along with his proposed changes we would not graduate.

Professor Pallard was abrasive and condescending. He interrupted a student who was attempting to argue a valid point against the proposed changes. Pallard was patronizing to students who attempted to seek clarification of the proposed changes. He clearly threatened to have the class cancelled if we did not agree to his changes. (It should be noted that he attempted to backtrack in stating that he did not threaten to cancel the class - yet the threat was made.)

Had Professor Pallard sought our co-operation in a manner which had been less caustic, we may have been able to find a suitable compromise. Hopefully Pallard learned the lesson that "you can catch more with honey then you can with vinegar."

Finally, my question begs to be answered; what authority does the Director of the Department of Law and Justice, Professor Pallard have in attempting to strong-arm students in a Department of Political Science course?

Yours,

A Different Opinion

By, Chris Land

Canada is facing some serious financial difficulties. Years of gross fiscal mismanagement has left us with an inefficient tax system and an ever growing debt. Specifically, Canada has a tax on manufactured goods that is 60 years out of date and favors imported goods over domestically produced goods.

The latest attempt at tax reform has been to replace the old Manufactures Sales Tax (MST) with the Goods and Services Tax (GST). This measure has met opposition because many critics have said that it is too complicated to be an effective replacement for the old MST. It is also suspected that the inflationary effect of the GST will further damage an already weak economy. It is their contention that high interest rates and a high Canadian dollar do more to hurt manufacturers competitiveness abroad than the MST. If the government would drop the Bank of Canada rate, it would reduce the value of the dollar as compared to the American dollar, and that would make Canadian goods more competitive in world markets.

It is true that the GST is more complicated than it should be. Businesses and consumers will experience some confusion now that the GST is implemented. Some products have both taxes levied on them, some have one or the other and some have neither. To avoid this, the provinces only have to harmonize their Provincial Sales taxes with the GST. This way all goods and services would either be taxed or not. There would not be any products that would only have one or the other. It is also true that there will be an increase of inflation as a direct result of the GST, but this will only be a minimal, one time increase. These two problems with the GST only go to show that the tax is less than perfect. What tax is?

Despite the problems with the GST, it is still a viable alternative to the old MST. The MST is a 13.5% tax that is levied at the manufactures level. This means that domestically manufactured goods are taxed while foreign produced goods are not. This causes foreign goods to be more competitive in Canadian markets, while Canadian products are less competitive in foreign markets. For 60 years we have known that this tax should be replaced, but no government has ever had the courage to do so. In the past, the government could compensate for the negative effects of the MST by raising the protective tariff on foreign products. Now that Canada has moved into a free trade environment we can no longer afford to maintain a system of taxation that hurts our manufactures. The GST, unlike the MST, is levied at the point of sale so that it treats foreign and domestic products equally. As well, Canadian products would no longer have an artificial increase of 13.5% in cost when shipped overseas, making Canada more competitive in the world market place. If Canada were to opt for the alternative and reduce interest rates and the price of our dollar, we would run the risk of runaway inflation. The reduction in the value of the dollar that would result from a sharp lowering of interest rates would make any imported goods much more expensive. Since Canada relies so much on imports, the increase in price of these goods would drive inflation up to a height as yet unknown. This would lower Canadians standard of living and lead to unemployment and poverty. I don't think that this would be an acceptable alternative to anyone.

Canada along with the United States were the only major industrialized countries that did not have a federal value added tax like the GST. Many of the countries in Europe have found such a tax to be an invaluable source of revenue and far more efficient than a tax like our old MST. We are faced with the dilemma of not wanting to introduce a new tax with a recession looming, but we can no longer go on with a tax that is so harmful to our economy. The MST raises over 15 billion dollars in revenue every year and cannot simply be eliminated without a viable alternative. The tax system in Canada must be improved if we ever hope to climb out of the financial mess that we are in. The GST is not perfect, but it is a positive alternative to what we have now.

Canadians have gotten used to a certain standard of living and have expected government help for people who are less fortunate. If we are to continue to have the kind of society that cares for its poor and elderly, we must take steps to prevent bankruptcy. Our health care system and welfare net have to be paid for and that unfortunately means taxes. The GST is only one aspect of tax reform. Much more must be done if Canada is to grow as a caring society.

Programmes des moniteurs* de langues officielles

Le ministère de l'Éducation en liaison avec le Conseil des ministres de l'Éducation (Canada), dans le cadre d'un programme financé par le Secrétariat d'État du Canada, invite les étudiants à poser leur candidature pour devenir moniteurs de langue seconde (français ou anglais) pendant l'année scolaire 1991-1992.

Moniteurs à temps partiel

Les moniteurs de langue seconde doivent étudier à temps plein au niveau postsecondaire généralement hors de leur province d'origine. Ils travailleront de six à huit heures par semaine sous la supervision d'un enseignant de langue seconde. Un certain nombre de moniteurs francophones exerceront leurs fonctions dans les écoles françaises en milieu minoritaire. Ce programme de huit mois leur permet de gagner au moins 3 500$, plus un voyage aller-retour entre la province d'accueil et leur domicile. Les étudiants admissibles sont ceux qui ont terminé ou qui termineront à la fin de l'année scolaire 1990-1991 une année d'études postsecondaires.

Moniteurs à temps plein

Les moniteurs à temps plein doivent avoir terminé une année d'études postsecondaires. Les moniteurs travaillent 25 heures par semaine sous la supervision d'enseignants de langue seconde ou d'enseignants d'un module scolaire de langue française, en milieu rural ou mi-urbain, généralement à l'extérieur de leur province d'origine. Les moniteurs reçoivent jusqu'à 10 000$ pour 10 mois de participation. On leur paie aussi deux voyages aller-retour par année entre leur province de domicile et la province d'accueil, et ils peuvent recevoir une prime d'installation d'un maximum de 770$ et une allocation de déplacement au sein de la province d'accueil d'un maximum de 1 110$.

On peut se procurer le formulaire et la brochure relatifs au programme des moniteurs à temps partiel ou à celui des moniteurs à temps plein, en s'adressant aux bureaux de recrutement des divers établissements postsecondaires, ainsi qu'au :

Revision of LU smoking policy

In compliance with City of Sudbury Smoking By-Law 88-200 and Province of Ontario Bill 194 -- An Act To Restrict Smoking in the workplace, and upon the recommendation of the Health & Safety Committee and subsequent approval by the Board of Governors, the current Policy On Smoking dated March 1, 1989 is hereby revoked and replaced with this revised Policy which becomes effective on January 1st, 1991.

1. The University recognizes that smoking is harmful to your health, and supports an information program to discourage smoking by staff and students. Seminar programs for stopping smoking are available. Further information or assistance is available through the University Health Services.

2. Smoking is prohibited in all University buildings except for specifically designated smoking areas.

3. Areas in which smoking is permitted have been designated by the University Administration in response to comments received from various interested employees, consultation with various Academic and Administrative Unit Heads, and recommendations from the joint Health & Safety Committee. Smoking permitted signs will be posted in areas where smoking is allowed.

4. Smoking in private offices* is discouraged, but will be permitted on condition that the office door is kept closed, the office is occupied by only one person, and provided that the smoke does not migrate into adjacent offices, work rooms or corridors and affect others in those areas.

5. Smoking is prohibited in private offices*, in cases where two or more persons are present for the purpose of meetings, or the carrying out of other University business as may be required.

6. University conference rooms, meeting rooms, seminar rooms, classrooms, teaching and research laboratories are specifically designated as non-smoking areas.

7. Appropriate signs will be posted reminding staff, students and visitors of this policy.

8. Enforcement of the Policy will be the responsibility of University Administrative and Academic Unit Heads, including Deans, Chairpersons, Directors and Managers in charge of various sections, units or departments.

* A private office is a self-contained room, partitioned up to the ceiling, and opening on to a corridor.

FACE TO FACE WITH A CMA

"With so many people graduating from university each year, I knew I needed a competitive edge to succeed in the business world. A university business degree just wasn't enough. A professional designation was necessary to achieve my career goals.

"I enjoy accounting and working with people. But I discovered, after a work term as an auditor, that I preferred management accounting to public auditing. As a Certified Management Accountant, I'm able to provide recommendations and direction on tactical and operational decisions. I'm using my accounting skills to work strategically to meet the company's bottom line objectives.

"The CMA designation has provided me with more opportunities within and outside the management accounting field. As well as acquiring valuable management skills, the designation gives me credibility in my day-to-day dealings with other executives who are, increasingly, CMAs themselves."

How the GST Works

The proposed Goods and Services Tax will replace the existing federal sales tax on January 1, 1991. It will be charged at a rate of 7 per cent. The GST is very similar to the kind of taxes used in 48 other countries, including most highly industrialized economies in the world.

From the consumer's perspective, the tax will be similar to the retail sales taxes operated by the provinces. From the perspective of businesses, the major difference between the GST and retail sales taxes is that the GST will be collected at each stage in the production/distribution chain with businesses claiming full input tax credits for all tax paid on their business purchases. This will ensure that all of the GST will be eliminated on business inputs, thereby removing the hidden costs of the current sales tax for both business and consumers.

Why the GST Makes Sense

Competitiveness and Growth

The proposed GST will establish for the first time a level playing field for Canada's domestic producers. Under the GST, the hidden federal sales tax will be removed from the production of goods and services in Canada and from Canada's export sales. As well, imports will be taxed in the same manner as Canadian-made goods.

It is estimated that the implementation of the GST will expand real domestic output by as much as 1.4 per cent -- or some $9 billion annually. All regions and sectors of Canada will enjoy economic gains as a result of federal sales tax reform.

More Visible to Consumers

Consumers will be aware of how much tax they are paying. They will be better able to compare the prices of the things they buy after the hidden distortions of the current tax are removed.

The price of many manufactured items like cars and major household appliances (currently taxed at 13.5 per cent) will drop under the GST; prices for items not directly taxed will rise. Overall, the GST will result initially in a one-time increase in the consumer price index of just under 1.25 per cent.

Q&A About GST

How Will GST Affect Students?

The GST has been designed so that you will not be charged sales tax on most of the costs for your education. There will be no tax charged on tuition and lab fees; rental housing or residence fees; basic groceries and school meal-plans; scholarships and bursaries; loans and many other financial services; health and dental care (including prescription drugs, glasses, and contact lenses); municipal transit fares; and compulsory student society fees.

Also, as part of the GST, the government is proposing a GST Credit to protect lower and moderate-income Canadians. Although some items presently untaxed will be subject to GST -- like textbooks, for example -- after receiving the credit, most students will be better off under the GST than they are under the present federal sales tax.

GST Treatment of Tuition

There will be no GST charged on fees by publicly-funded colleges and universities if the courses lead to diplomas or degrees. This included part-time, extension and adult-education programs.

As well, any other fees required to qualify for a diploma or degree -- or for courses that are prerequisite to a credit course -- will be GST-exempt. As a result, lab courses and mandatory computer courses will be tax-exempt. In addition, compulsory student-association and athletic program fees will not be subject to GST.

However, schools will apply GST on fees for non-credit recreational and personal-interest courses -- such as scuba diving, time management, and wine tasting -- because these are also available from private organizations who must charge the tax.

Why Sales Tax Reform?

The existing federal sales tax -- generally 13.5 per cent -- was introduced in 1924 and is damaging to the Canadian economy. It favours imports over domestically-produced goods and makes our exports less competitive in foreign markets. In fact, Canadian-made products are taxed one-third higher, on average, than competing imports.

ATTENTION ALL MEMBERS OF LAMBDA PUBLICATIONS SOCIETY

By-law 1.b) All members subject to the Lambda student levy shall be considered to be members of Lambda Publications.

That is, all SGA members are members of Lambda publications.

We will be holding the first of two staff meetings to discuss amendments to our Constitution. All members of Lambda Publications Society are invited to express ideas and concerns.

The first meeting will be held Thursday 17 January at 2:30pm.

The second meeting will be held Thursday 24 January at 2:30pm. This meeting will include the voting on amendments previously discussed at the first meeting. Voting is reserved to staff members of Lambda Publications.

By-law 4.b) A person attains staff membership status by making a recognized contribution to three (3) editions of Lambda during the fall term or to three editions during the spring term. To maintain staff membership for the entire publishing year, the person must contribute to at least five (5) editions of Lambda.

c) Any one contributing nine (9) hours of volunteer work per term or fifteen (15) hours of volunteer work during the year shall be awarded staff membership status.

d) Articles written to meet external job requirements shall not be considered as contributions for staff membership status.

e) For the first five (5) issues of the publishing year, persons who have attained staff membership in the previous year shall be considered to hold staff membership status.

All staff members are required to attend these meetings. Copies of the Lambda Constitution can be made available upon request.

For further information, please call Siobhan Kari at 673-6548 or at 675-1151 ext.6548 or ext.2403.

By adopting the system used by most other countries to collect tax both efficiently and fairly, the GST will allow businesses to be more competitive internationally. That means a better chance of finding a job when you finish your studies.

No GST on Residential Rents

Residential rents will not be subject to GST. This applies to university residences and boarding houses as well

What about entertainment?
While amateur performances, shows or events will not be taxed, professional baseball games and concerts will be taxable. GST will also apply to other professional performances including movies, rock concerts, the theater, and hockey games.

Official Languages Monitor* Program

Under a program funded by the Department of the Secretary of State of Canada, the Ministry of Education in conjunction with the Council of Ministers of Education, Canada, invites students to apply for the position of second-language monitors (French or English) for the academic year 1991-92.

Monitors (Part-time)

Official-language monitors must be full-time postsecondary students usually studying in a province other than their own. They will work between six and eight hours per week under the supervision of a second-language teacher. Some francophone monitors will be assigned to French schools outside Quebec. For eight months participation in the program, they will receive at least $3,500 and one return trip between their home and the host province.

To be eligible for part-time monitor duties, students must have completed at least one year of postsecondary studies or will have completed such studies by the end of the 1990-91 academic year.

Monitors (Full-time)

Full-time monitors must have completed at least one year of postsecondary studies. Duties consist of assisting second-language teachers (French or English) in rural or semi-urban areas usually in a province other than their own for 25 hours per week. Some francophone monitors will be assigned to French schools outside Quebec. Monitors will receive up to $10,000 for 10 months of participation. They will also receive two return trips per year between their home province and the host province. They may also receive a settling-in allowance of up to $770 and a maximum of $1,110 for commuting expenses within the host province.

Application forms and program brochures may be obtained from placement offices in postsecondary institutions, or at the address below:

Federal Public Service Recruiting Tomorrow's Managers Today

Ottawa -- "We are looking for talented and dynamic individuals with strong management potential," said Public Service Commission Chairman Robert Giroux, in launching the national recruitment campaign for the new Management Trainee Program.

"The Canadian Public Service, which has an on going need for managers of high calibre, is recognized as one of the best in the world," said Chairman Giroux. "The Management Trainee Program will contribute towards maintaining this standard of excellence, by recruiting people with management potential to undergo training focused on the delivery of complex programs and services," he added.

The Management Trainee Program offers unique benefits to the participant: training in advanced management skills, career development support, and competitive salaries and benefits.

Participants combine a formal orientation to federal government programs, with structured skills training and rotational career assignments that foster individual initiative and growth. The program prepares participants within five years for full-time middle management positions where they can compete for progressively more senior roles.

The Chairman pointed out that the Management Trainee Program is part of the overall renewal of the Public Service of Canada, known as Public Service 2000. "We are responding with confidence to increased competition in hiring a new generation of professionals who will be tomorrow's leaders," he stated.

"The Management Trainee Program is for those who share our vision of a Public Service that offers challenge and scope for innovation. It can be an exciting start to a productive and rewarding career," he concluded.

Laurentian University appoints an Executive Director (Institutional Relations)

Laurentian University announces the appointment of Richard Vaillancourt as Executive Director (Institutional Relations). Reporting to the President, Mr. Vaillancourt will be responsible for development; alumni affairs; internal and external communication, including media relations and the coordination of publications; and organization of special events.

Mr. Vaillancourt is a native of Chelmsford who has lived in northern Ontario and Québec. He attended McGill University and has extensive experience in promotion, marketing, development and public relations with a number of Canadian firms. Recently, he was the Marketing Development Director of a national firm.

Laurentian University is committed to playing a central role in the economic, social and cultural development of Sudbury and northern Ontario.

We believe that this appointment will greatly assist the University to provide leadership, vision and direction in continuing to make Laurentian an increasingly visible presence in northeastern Ontario.

The Heterosexual Questionnaire

1. What do you think caused your heterosexuality?
2. When and how did you first decide you were heterosexual?
3. Is it possible your heterosexuality stems from a neurotic fear of the same sex?
4. If you've never slept with a person of the same sex, is it possible that all you need is a good gay lover?
5. To whom have you disclosed your heterosexual tendencies? How did the react?
6. Why do you heterosexuals feel compelled to seduce others into your lifestyle?
7. Why do you insist on flaunting your heterosexuality? Can't you just be what you are and keep it quiet?
8. Would you want your children to be heterosexual, knowing the problems they'd face?
9. A disproportionate majority of child molesters are heterosexuals. Do you consider it safe to expose your children to heterosexual teachers?
10. Even with all the societal support marriage receives, the divorce rate is spiralling. Why are there so few stable relationships among heterosexuals?
11. Why do heterosexuals place so much emphasis on sex?
12. Considering the menace of overpopulation, how could the human race survive if everyone were heterosexual like you?
13. Could you trust a heterosexual therapist to be objective?
14. How can you become a whole person if you limit yourself to a compulsive, exclusive heterosexuality, and fail to develop your natural, healthy, homosexual potential?
15. There seem to be very few happy heterosexuals. Techniques have been developed which enable you to change if you really want to. Have you considered trying aversion therapy?

C. Composition and Responsibilities of Groups Involved in the Process

i) The Steering Committee

a) Composition

The Steering Committee will be comprised of ten people, chosen by the Transition Planning Committee from nominations by the University community, according to the following criteria: strong leadership and organizational abilities; strong communication skills; fair and open-minded; well-respected throughout the University community; available from January 1991 to January 1992. Ex-officio members will include the Laurentian University President and the Chair of the Laurentian University Board of Governors.

b) Responsibilities

Following an initial meeting with the Transition Planning Committee to discuss the strategic planning process and selection of the Task Force, the Steering Committee will proceed to elect a chair, establish meeting times, discuss resources needed to complete the process, oversee selection of the Task Force, and review the issues and stakeholders involved (including those identified at Killarney) in order to present the Task Force with logical groupings and themes for analysis. It will then convene the first meeting of the Strategic Planning Task Force to discuss the origins, structure, direction and ultimate goal of the process, and to propose themes for the Working Groups. After ascertaining from each member of the Task Force his or her priorities in regard to issues, the Steering Committee will establish Working Group membership. Task Force members will form the core of the Working Groups, each of which shall be chaired by a member of the Steering Committee. The Steering Committee will meet on a regular basis to ensure information exchange and coordination of the process, and will draft the final report. The Chair of the Steering Committee will be responsible for issuing press releases at key stages of the planning process to keep the University community informed.

ii) The Task Force

a) Composition

The Strategic Planning Task Force membership will be identified by the following constituencies:

- 1 U.C. faculty member - Humanities Faculty Council
- 1 U.C. faculty member - Science Faculty Council
- 1 U.C. faculty member - Social Science Faculty Council
- 1 U.C. faculty member - Professional Schools Faculty Council
- 1 representative from the Affiliated Colleges named by the System Program Coordinating Committee
- 3 faculty members from the federated colleges of which no more than one is to be an administrator
- 1 member of the Centre for Continuing Education and Part-time Studies
- 1 member of the Laurentian University Faculty Association (LUFA)
- 1 professional librarian
- 1 member of ACAPLAN
- 1 member of CEF
- 1 member of the Status of Women Committee
- 1 senior administrator (Deans, Library Director, Vice-Presidents, Assistant Vice-President, Director of Graduate Studies, Registrar, and Comptroller)
- 3 members of the Laurentian University Administrative and Professional Staff Association (LUAPSA) - 1 secretarial/clerical, 1 professional, and 1 administration
- 3 members of the Laurentian University Staff Association (LUSA) - 1 technician/technologist
- 1 library staff, 1 secretarial/clerical/others staff
- 4 students, 1 appointed by each student association
- 1 member of the Alumni Association
- 1 member of the Laurentian University Board of Governors
- 1 member of the Guards' Association
- 1 member of CUPE
- 1 representative from the Sudbury Public Board of Education
- 1 representative from the Sudbury Separate Board of Education
- 1 member from the Regional Municipality of Sudbury
- 1 member from Cambrian College

Total: 33

b) Responsibilities

The Task Force is responsible for ensuring that the views of all major stakeholders are represented and that they are consulted in Stage II. It also acts in an advisory capacity to the Steering Committee in defining Working Group themes and the details of the operation of the Working Groups. At Stage III, the Task Force will review drafts of the final report, suggest changes and ratify the final draft.

iii) Working Groups

a) Composition

The Working Groups will be established by the Steering Committee in consultation with the Task Force. A member of the Steering Committee will chair each Working Group. Members of the Task Force will form the core of the Working Groups, but additional members may be appointed where necessary.

b) Responsibilities

The Working Groups will be responsible for consulting with the University community and other stakeholders and collecting other information where appropriate in relation to the theme defined for each group. Each Working Group will submit a report to the Steering Committee.

A STRATEGIC PLANNING PROCESS FOR LAURENTIAN UNIVERSITY

Report of the Transition Planning Committee

December 1990

"The 1990-91 academic year marks the 30th anniversary of the founding of Laurentian University. It is appropriate that on this occasion, the University and the community which it serves reflect on the development of our institution and chart a course for the future..."

To stimulate this process, a symposium at Killarney Mountain Lodge has been organized from October 12 to 14, 1990. A cross-section of the University community, including faculty, staff, students, and representatives of the external constituency, has been invited to participate.

Participants in the symposium will be introduced to a broad range of strategic planning issues. They will discuss how the University can better serve the broader community and how it can adapt to the changing social priorities of the 1990s.

The symposium is only the beginning of a much broader process of consultation which Laurentian University is undertaking in 1990-91 to examine every aspect of its mandate for teaching, research and service to society. In the coming months, members of the university community will be asked to present their views on these issues through various forms of consultation... (C.-H. Bélanger, Acting President, in a memorandum dated October 10, 1990)

The "Challenge '90s" symposium initiated a strategic planning process at Laurentian University. Its findings have been summarized and distributed widely throughout the University under the title "Report of the Killarney Symposium". Although the specifics were yet to be defined, there was a consensus among participants that the process of consultation and long-term planning continue, with a broader base of constituents and partners involved. The next step was to be:

"the establishment of a University-wide Strategic Planning Task Force to draft a plan for the institution that will offer a vision of the future that reflects the views and concerns of its constituents and the communities Laurentian University serves." (Joint Statement by the "Challenge 90s" Symposium participants, dated October 15, 1990).

The task force would need definition, however, in terms of mandate, structure, and membership. In order to move to the next stage of the process, it was decided to form a "Transition Planning Committee", with two members drawn from each of five discussion groups at Killarney. The result was a committee comprised of three faculty members, two students, two deans, one support staff, one alumna, and one administrative staff. The Transition Planning Committee met twelve times between October 22nd and December 14th, in order to review the Killarney findings, examine similar processes at other Canadian Universities (Alberta, Guelph, McMaster, Montréal, Queen's, U.Q. Rimouski, Saskatchewan, Sherbrooke, Simon Fraser, and York), design a structure to reflect the unique characteristics of Laurentian University, and produce this report.

The Report is presented in four parts: a) the terms of reference of the Transition Planning Committee; b) an overview of the strategic planning process; c) a description of the composition and responsibilities of groups involved in the process; and d) the nomination package for public distribution.

A. Terms of Reference

As stated in the Report of the Killarney Symposium, the Terms of Reference of the Transition Planning Committee were to:

1. define the composition of the Strategic Planning Task Force;
2. specify criteria for the selection of stakeholder representatives to the Task Force;
3. define the mandate, terms of reference and time-frame for the Task Force to complete the Strategic Planning process and subsequent planning document; and
4. make recommendations for logistical support for the Task Force to complete its work.

b) Overview of the Strategic Planning Process

In consideration of the unique characteristics of Laurentian University, the Committee has developed a three stage process that will ensure maximum input to the final Strategic Plan. The accompanying figure illustrates the process as it will unfold over a one-year period.

Stage I involves the identification of a 10-member Strategic Planning Steering Committee and a Strategic Planning Task Force. The Steering Committee will be responsible for the overall planning process, in consultation with the Task Force comprised of representatives from constituent groups. The primary focus of this stage is to define the major issues to be addressed in the final plan and to establish thematic working groups for each of these issues.

In Stage II, the Working Groups will generate input through consultation with the University community and other interested groups. This input will form the basis for Working Group discussions and reports for consideration in the drafting of the final Strategic Plan.

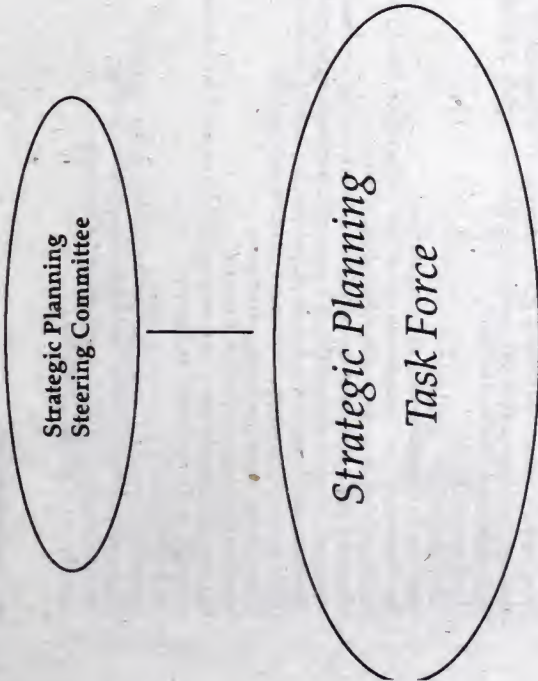

In Stage III, the Steering Committee will synthesize information from the Working Groups and develop the Laurentian University Strategic Plan. The final version will reflect both consultation with and approval by the Task Force at large. The Strategic Plan will be delivered to the President of Laurentian University and the Board of Governors for further action.

Laurentian University Strategic Planning Process

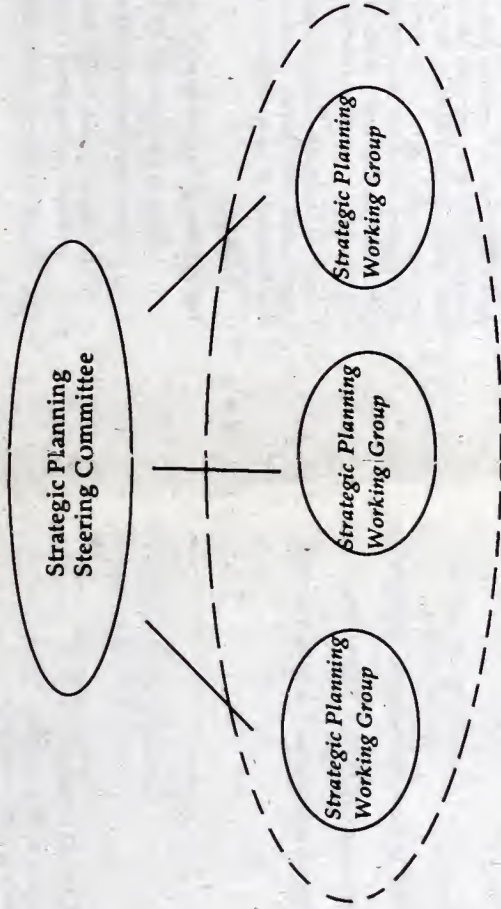

Stage I:

Establishment of Steering Committee, Task Force and Working Groups

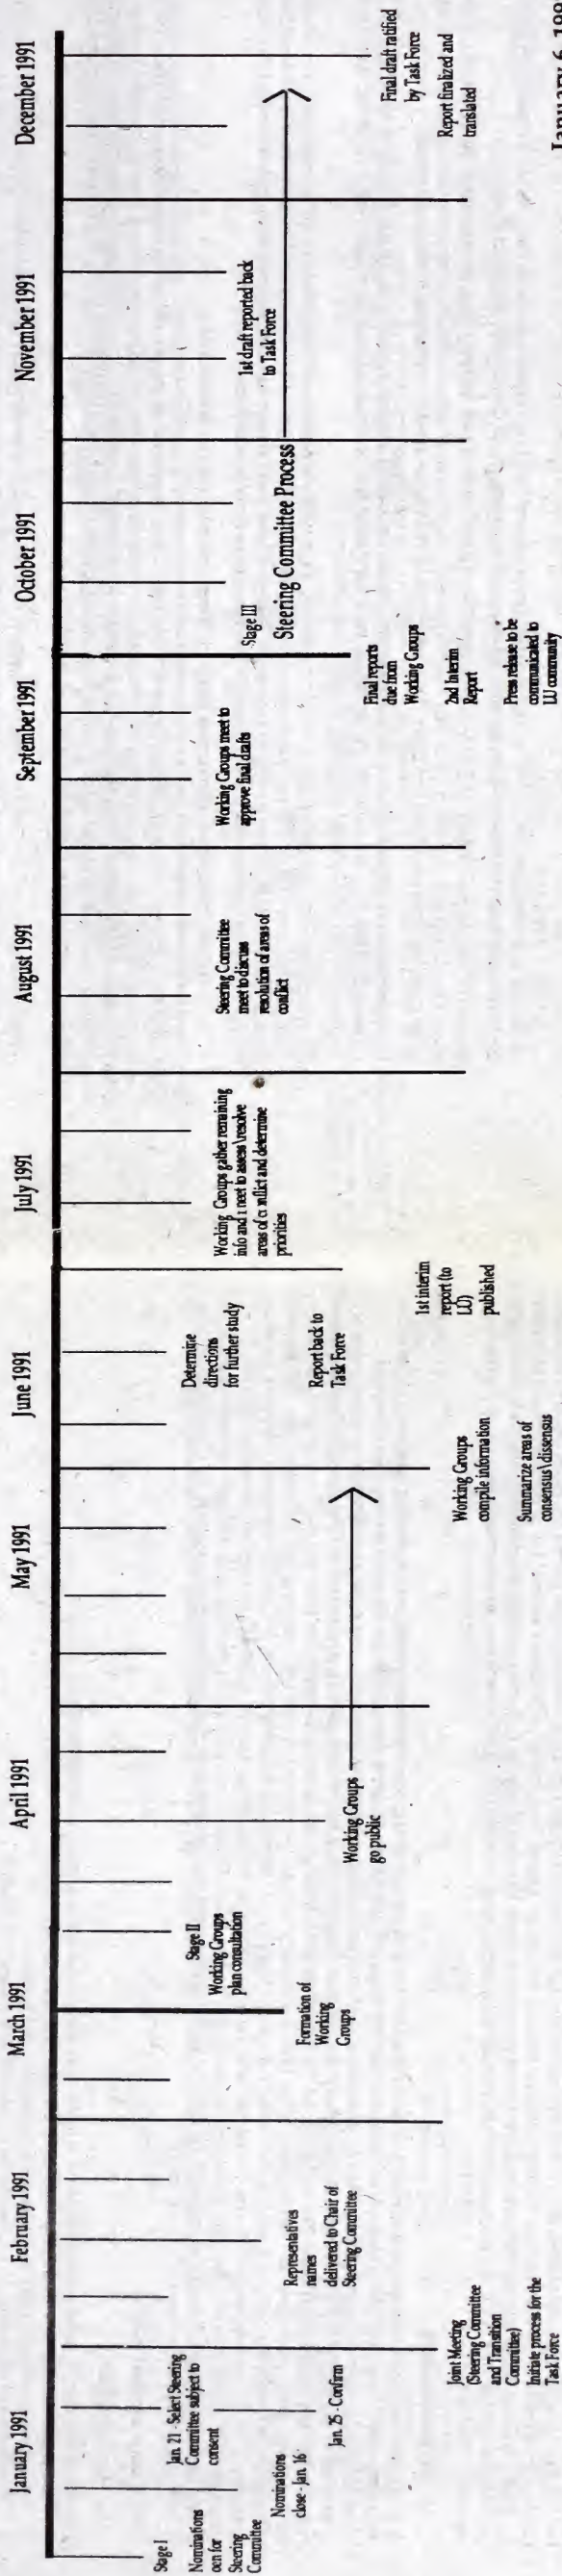

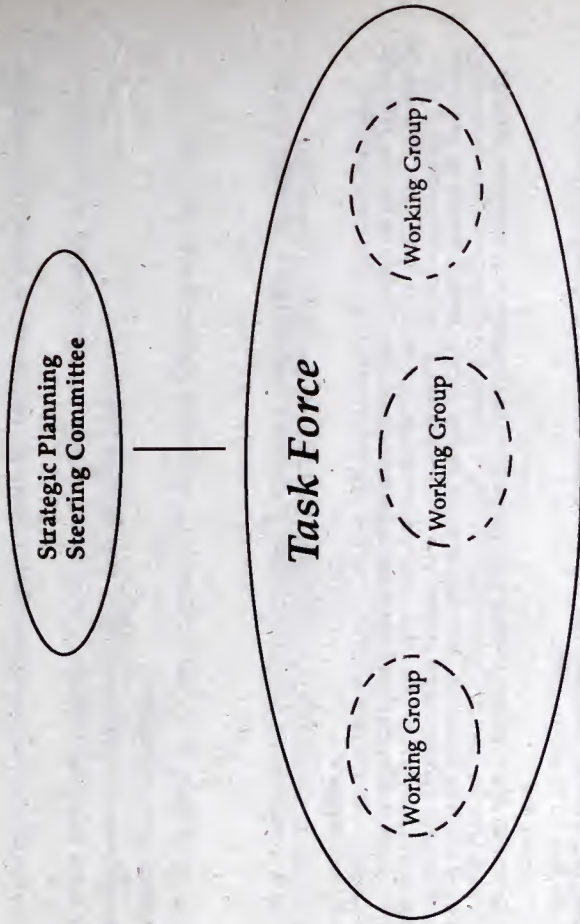

Stage II:

Working Groups consult with University community and other interested groups, collect information and report back to Task Force and Steering Committee

Stage III:

Drafting, revision and ratification of the Report.

January 6, 1992
Report presented to
President and Board Chair

C. Composition et responsabilités des groupes engagés dans le processus

i) Le Comité directeur

a) Composition

Le Comité directeur se composera de dix membres choisis par le Comité transitoire de la planification parmi les personnes proposées par la communauté universitaire et en fonction des critères suivants : grand leadership et bonnes capacités d'organisation; excellentes aptitudes à communiquer; esprit juste et ouvert; être respectées dans l'ensemble de la communauté universitaire; disponibles entre janvier 1991 et janvier 1992. Le Recteur de l'Université Laurentienne et le Président du Conseil des gouverneurs siégeront à titre de membres d'office.

b) Responsabilités

À la suite d'une première rencontre avec le Comité transitoire pour discuter du processus de planification stratégique et du choix des membres du Groupe de planification, le Comité directeur élira un président, établira un calendrier de rencontres, discutera des ressources nécessaires pour mener à bien le processus, supervisera le choix des membres du Groupe de planification et examinera les questions et partenaires de l'Université engagés (y compris ceux identifiés à Killarney) afin de présenter au Groupe de planification des regroupements et thèmes d'analyses logiques. Le Comité directeur convoquera ensuite la première réunion du Groupe pour débattre des origines, de la structure, de l'orientation et du but ultime du processus, et proposer des thèmes pour les sous-groupes. Après avoir obtenu les priorités de chaque membre du Groupe de planification par rapport à certains points, le Comité directeur formera les sous-groupes dont les membres du Groupe de planification constitueront le noyau et qui seront présidés par un membre du Comité directeur. Ce dernier se réunira régulièrement pour échanger des informations, coordonner le processus et rédiger le rapport final. Le président du Comité directeur s'occupera de l'émission de communiqués de presse aux étapes clés du processus de planification afin de renseigner la communauté universitaire.

ii) Le Groupe de planification

a) Composition

Les membres du Groupe de planification stratégique seront désignés par les composantes suivantes :

- 1 Personnel enseignant C.U. - Conseil de la Faculté des humanités
- 1 Personnel enseignant C.U. - Conseil de la Faculté des sciences
- 1 Personnel enseignant C.U. - Conseil de la Faculté des sciences sociales
- 1 Personnel enseignant C.U. - Conseil de la Faculté des écoles professionnelles
- 1 Représentant(e) des collèges affiliés nommé(e) par le Comité de coordination des programmes du système
- 3 Membres du personnel des universités fédérées (pas plus d'une personne de l'administration)
- 1 Membre du Centre d'éducation permanente et d'études à temps partiel
- 1 Membre de l'Association des professeurs de l'Université Laurentienne (APUL)
- 1 Bibliothécaire professionnel(le)
- 1 Membre du COPA
- 1 Membre du CEF
- 1 Membre du Comité du statut de la femme
- 1 Représentant(e) de la haute administration (doyens, Directeur de la bibliothèque, vice-recteurs, Vice-rectrice adjointe, Directeur des études supérieures, Secrétaire général et Contrôleur)
- 3 Membres de l'Association du personnel administratif et professionnel de l'Université Laurentienne (APAPUL) - 1 secrétaire/commiss(e), 1 professionnel(le) et 1 membre du personnel administratif
- 3 Membres de l'Association des employés de l'Université Laurentienne (AEUL) - 1 technicien(ne)/technologue, 1 employé(e) de la Bibliothèque, 1 secrétaire/commiss(e)/autres employés(e)s
- 4 Étudiant(s), l'par association étudiante
- 1 Membre de l'Association des Anciens
- 1 Membre du Conseil des gouverneurs de l'Université Laurentienne
- 1 Membre de l'Association des gardes
- 1 Membre du SCFP
- 1 Représentant(e) du Conseil des écoles publiques de Sudbury
- 1 Représentant(e) du conseil des écoles séparées de Sudbury
- 1 Membre de la municipalité régionale de Sudbury
- 1 Membre du Collège Cambrian

TOTAL : 33 membres

b) Responsabilités

Le Groupe de planification devra veiller à ce que les points de vue des principaux partenaires de l'Université soient représentés et que ceux-ci soient consultés au cours de la deuxième étape. Il conseillera également le Comité directeur au chapitre de la définition des thèmes des sous-groupes et des détails de leur fonctionnement. À la troisième étape, le Groupe de planification révisera les versions préliminaires du rapport final, proposera des changements et approuvera la version finale.

iii) Les sous-groupes

a) Composition

Le Comité directeur établira les sous-groupes en consultation avec le Groupe de planification. Un membre du Comité directeur présidera chaque sous-groupe, et les membres du Groupe de planification, auxquels s'ajouteront au besoin d'autres membres, formeront le noyau le chacun.

b. Responsabilités

Les sous-groupes devront consulter la communauté universitaire et les partenaires de l'Université et recueillir au besoin d'autres renseignements sur leur thème respectif. Chaque sous-groupe soumettra un rapport au Comité directeur.

PROCESSUS DE PLANIFICATION STRATÉGIQUE DE L'UNIVERSITÉ LAURENTIENNE

Rapport du Comité transitoire de la planification

Décembre 1990

"L'année universitaire 1990-1991 marque le 30<sup>e</sup> anniversaire de l'Université Laurentienne. Voilà l'occasion pour elle et la communauté qu'elle dessert d se pencher sur son développement et de dresser des plans d'avenir..."

Pour stimuler le processus, nous avons organisé un symposium à la Killarney Mountain Lodge du 12 au 14 octobre 1990; rencontre à laquelle ont été invités des membres de la communauté universitaire, y compris des représentants du personnel enseignant, du personnel de soutien, de la population étudiante ainsi que d'organisations externes.

Les participantes et participants au symposium seront exposés à diverses questions de planification stratégique. Ils réfléchiront sur la manière dont l'Université peut servir au mieux l'ensemble de la collectivité et comment elle peut s'adapter à l'évolution des priorités sociales des années 1990.

Le symposium ne constitue que le point de départ d'un vaste processus de consultation qu'entreprend l'Université Laurentienne en 1990-1991 pour examiner chaque aspect de son mandat au regard de l'enseignement, de la recherche et des services à la société. Dans les prochains mois, les membres de la communauté universitaire auront l'occasion de présenter leurs points de vue sur ces questions par l'intermédiaire de consultations variées..."

(C.-H. Bélanger, recteur par intérim, dans une note du 10 octobre 1990)

C'est au symposium "Les enjeux des années 90" qu'a été lancé le processus de planification stratégique de l'Université Laurentienne. Les conclusions de cette rencontre ont été résumées dans un document intitulé "Rapport du symposium de Killarney" largement distribué dans l'Université. Bien qu'il restait à définir les détails du processus, les participants se sont entendus pour poursuivre la consultation et la planification à long terme tout en élargissant la gamme de constituantes et de partenaires qui participent à l'opération. La prochaine étape devait être la suivante :

"l'établissement d'un Groupe de planification stratégique comprenant des représentants de tous les secteurs de l'Université et qui sera chargé de préparer un plan qui offrira une perspective d'avenir de l'établissement et reflètera les points de vue et soucis de ses constituantes et des communautés qu'elle sert". (Déclaration collective des participants au symposium "Les enjeux des années 90", en date du 15 octobre 1990).

Cependant, pour mettre sur pied ce Groupe de planification, il fallait le doter d'un mandat, d'une structure et de membres. Afin de passer à l'étape suivante du processus, il a été décidé de former un "Comité transitoire de la planification" composé de deux membres de chacun des cinq groupes de discussion qui ont oeuvré à Killarney. En conséquence, ce comité compte trois membres du personnel enseignant, deux étudiants, deux doyens, un membre du personnel de soutien, une Ancienne de la Laurentienne et un membre du personnel administratif. Ce Comité s'est réuni douze fois entre le 22 octobre et le 14 décembre pour revoir les conclusions de la session de Killarney, examiner des processus similaires adoptés dans d'autres universités canadiennes (Alberta, Guelph, McMaster, Montréal, Queen's, U.Q. Rimouski, Saskatchewan, Sherbrooke, Simon Fraser et York), concevoir une structure reflétant les caractéristiques uniques de l'Université Laurentienne et produire ce rapport.

Celui-ci se constitue de quatre parties : a) le mandat du Comité transitoire de la planification; b) un aperçu du processus de planification stratégique; c) une description de la composition et des responsabilités des groupes engagés dans le processus et c) les documents de mise en candidature.

A. Mandat

Tel qu'indiqué dans le Rapport du symposium de Killarney, le mandat du Comité transitoire de la planification est le suivant :

1. Définir la composition du Groupe de planification stratégique;
2. Préciser les critères de sélection des représentants des partenaires de l'Université qui y siègeront;
3. Définir le mandat et les échéances que devra respecter le Groupe pour terminer le processus de planification stratégique et produire un document de planification, et
4. Présenter des recommandations relatives au soutien pratique apporté au Groupe de planification pour mener à bien sa tâche.

B. Aperçu du processus de planification stratégique

En tenant compte des caractéristiques uniques de l'Université Laurentienne, le Comité a préparé un processus en trois étapes qui permettra de recueillir le maximum de données sur lesquelles baser la version finale du Plan stratégique. Le schéma ci-joint illustre le déroulement du processus sur une année.

La première étape débute avec la mise sur pied du Comité directeur de la planification stratégique, composé de dix membres, et du Groupe de planification stratégique. Le Comité directeur s'occupera de l'ensemble du processus en consultation avec le Groupe de planification, composé pour sa part de représentants de groupes ayant un lien avec l'Université. Le principal objectif de la première étape est de définir les points principaux à traiter dans le plan final et à établir des sous-groupes de travail thématiques pour chacun.

Au cours de la deuxième étape, les sous-groupes recueilleront des renseignements auprès de la communauté universitaire et d'autres groupes intéressés. Ces données serviront de base aux débats des sous-groupes et aux rapports qui entreront dans la préparation de la version finale du Plan stratégique.

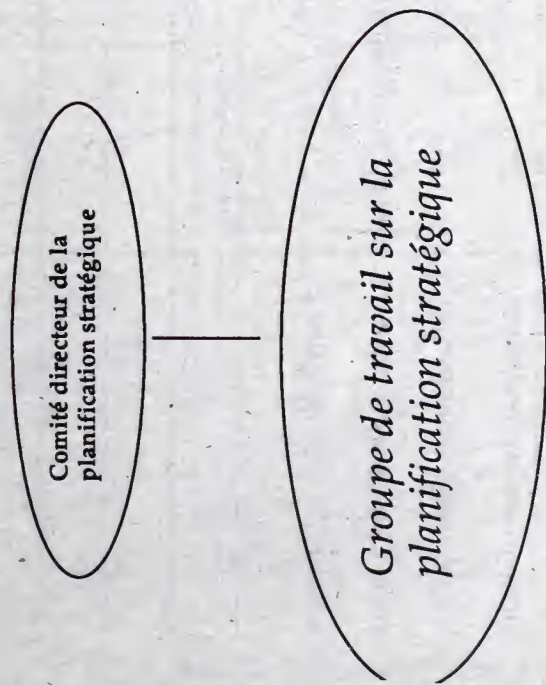

À la troisième étape, le Comité directeur synthétisera les enseignements recueillis par les sous-groupes et élaborera le Plan stratégique de l'Université Laurentienne. La version finale reflètera à la fois la consultation et l'approbation du Groupe de planification en général. Le Plan stratégique sera distribué au Recteur de l'Université Laurentienne et au Conseil des gouverneurs qui auront la charge d'y donner suite.

Processus de Planification Stratégique de l'Université Laurentienne

Première étape :

Mise sur pied du Comité directeur, du Groupe de travail et des sous-groupes

Deuxième étape :

Les sous-groupes consultent la communauté universitaire et d'autres groupes intéressés, recueillent des renseignements et font rapport au Groupe de travail et au Comité directeur

Troisième étape :

Rédaction, révision et adoption du Rapport

Formulaire de mise en candidature au Comité directeur de la planification stratégique

Le comité transitoire de la planification demande des candidatures pour combler les postes du Comité directeur de la planification stratégique qui supervisera le processus et rédigera la version finale du rapport. Les membres de ce Comité devront consacrer un temps non négligeable à ces tâches; de plus le Conseil des gouverneurs fournira des ressources appropriées pour les mener à bien. Nous vous encourageons à réfléchir mûrement à la question et à proposer des personnes qui, à votre avis, pourront apporter une contribution utile à cette entreprise si importante pour l'avenir de l'Université Laurentienne.

Les personnes proposées devraient posséder les qualités suivantes :

- Grand leadership et bonnes capacités d'organisation
- Excellentes aptitudes à communiquer
- Esprit juste et ouvert
- Etre respectées dans l'ensemble de la communauté universitaire
- Disponibles entre janvier 1991 et janvier 1992

Nomination form for the Strategic Planning Steering Committee

To set the Strategic Planning process in motion, the Transition Planning Committee is seeking nominations from the University community at large from which it will select members of the Strategic Planning Steering Committee. This Committee will be responsible for overseeing the process and for writing the final report. While the task will be relatively time consuming, it is expected that appropriate resources will be provided by the Board of Governors. After due consideration, we encourage you to nominate potential members who you believe would contribute to this undertaking that is so crucial to the future of Laurentian University.

Nominees should possess the following attributes:

- Strong leadership and organizational abilities
- Strong communication skills
- Fair and open-minded
- Well-respected throughout the University community
- Available from January 1991 to January 1992

Reviews

Kindergarten Cop

Starring: Arnold Schwarzenegger

This is a hilarious movie about an undercover cop who has to pose as a Kindergarten teacher in order to keep an evil bad guy from kidnapping his son. Arney is really great alongside these kids. He is a typical movie tough guy who is more than a match for any type of street vermin imaginable. He can handle anyone or anything; except 20, 6 year olds in a Kindergarten class. They manage to bring this tough street cop to his knees before his is able to rebound. By the end of the film Arney has won over the audience, the highly skeptical school principal, a very beautiful school teacher, and his entire class.

Unfortunately the movie is hurt by the scenes of graphic violence at the end. The movie moves along nicely until someone is run over by a car, the school is set on fire, two people are shot, and an old lady is beaten senseless with a baseball bat. I found this part to be disappointing.

Overall I would recommend Kindergarten Cop but not for young children. It is a heartwarming film - most of the time - and the interaction between Arney and the kids is wonderful. It is well worth the price of admission at a theatre and would be worth seeing again on Video.

Starring: Johnny Depp

Unfortunately this film really misses it. When I say 'it', I mean a meaningful love interest, a meaningful moral statement and meaningful humor. It tries really hard to achieve all of these but it falls short. When Edward, played by Johnny Depp, and Kim, played by Winona Ryder, are supposed to be in love the audience is left asking, Why? When the neighborhood turns against poor Edward the audience is left yawning. Occasionally the movie is funny but not enough to make it worthwhile.

On the upside, Winona Ryder is totally gorgeous as a blond, which was reason enough for me to pay the price of admission but wouldn't be enough for most of you. For all those Johnny Depp fans out there, go for it. Its not worth the price of admission for that either. They make a stab at sentimentality at the end but with so much missing it doesn't work. If you really need to see Winona Ryder or Johnny Depp, buy a photograph.

Starring: Cher and Winona Ryder.

When you get Cher playing a single mother with rather loose morals and, Winona Ryder as her daughter who is so disgusted with her mothers conduct that she embraces a religion that is not her own, it is bound to give the audience a few moments of fun. This movie definitely does that. The weak script is saved by the performance of this duo and strong performances by the supporting cast. It is worth seeing if you are a sentimental slob like I am or if your just totally in love with Winona Ryder, like me. For most people you would be best served if you waited for this one to come out on video.

FROM JOHN HUGHES HOME ALONE

A FAMILY COMEDY WITHOUT THE FAMILY.

Check listings for locations & showtimes

"I wish I didn't have a family, I wish I didn't have a family!!" is something that eight-year-old Kevin McCallister, played by Macaulay Culkin, wishes for in a fit of anger with his mother.

Once he comes to terms with his scary reality, that his family really is gone, he must fend for himself in the everyday chores of housekeeping.

Kevin's mother, played by Catherine O'Hara, sitting aboard a plane halfway over the Atlantic, is sure that the family forgot something in their mad dash for the airport. When she finally discovers that it was her youngest child, she frantically attempts to get back to Chicago after she fails to reach him by phone from Paris.

Meanwhile, back in Chicago, Kevin is having a great time without his family. He sits in front of the television, in his fathers chair, watching movies which he is not suppose to watch, munching down a bag of chips, and a huge bowl of ice cream. He also goes through a chest full of things that his brother warns him to keep out of.

During his mother's struggle to get home to her son, she runs into a peculiar fellow. This cameo appearance of John Candy, as none the less, a Polka musician once again, was really somewhat not required. He assisted with her returning home, but there were other means, or someone else who could have helped.

While home alone, the precocious child detects a plot by two dimwitted thieves, Harry, played by Joe Pesci, and Marv, played by Daniel Stern, to steal the family valuables. With no one else to help, Kevin cleverly rigs his house with an assortment of ambushes to foil their repeated attempts at breaking in. These antics are so hilarious that you'll have cramps in your stomach from laughing so hard.

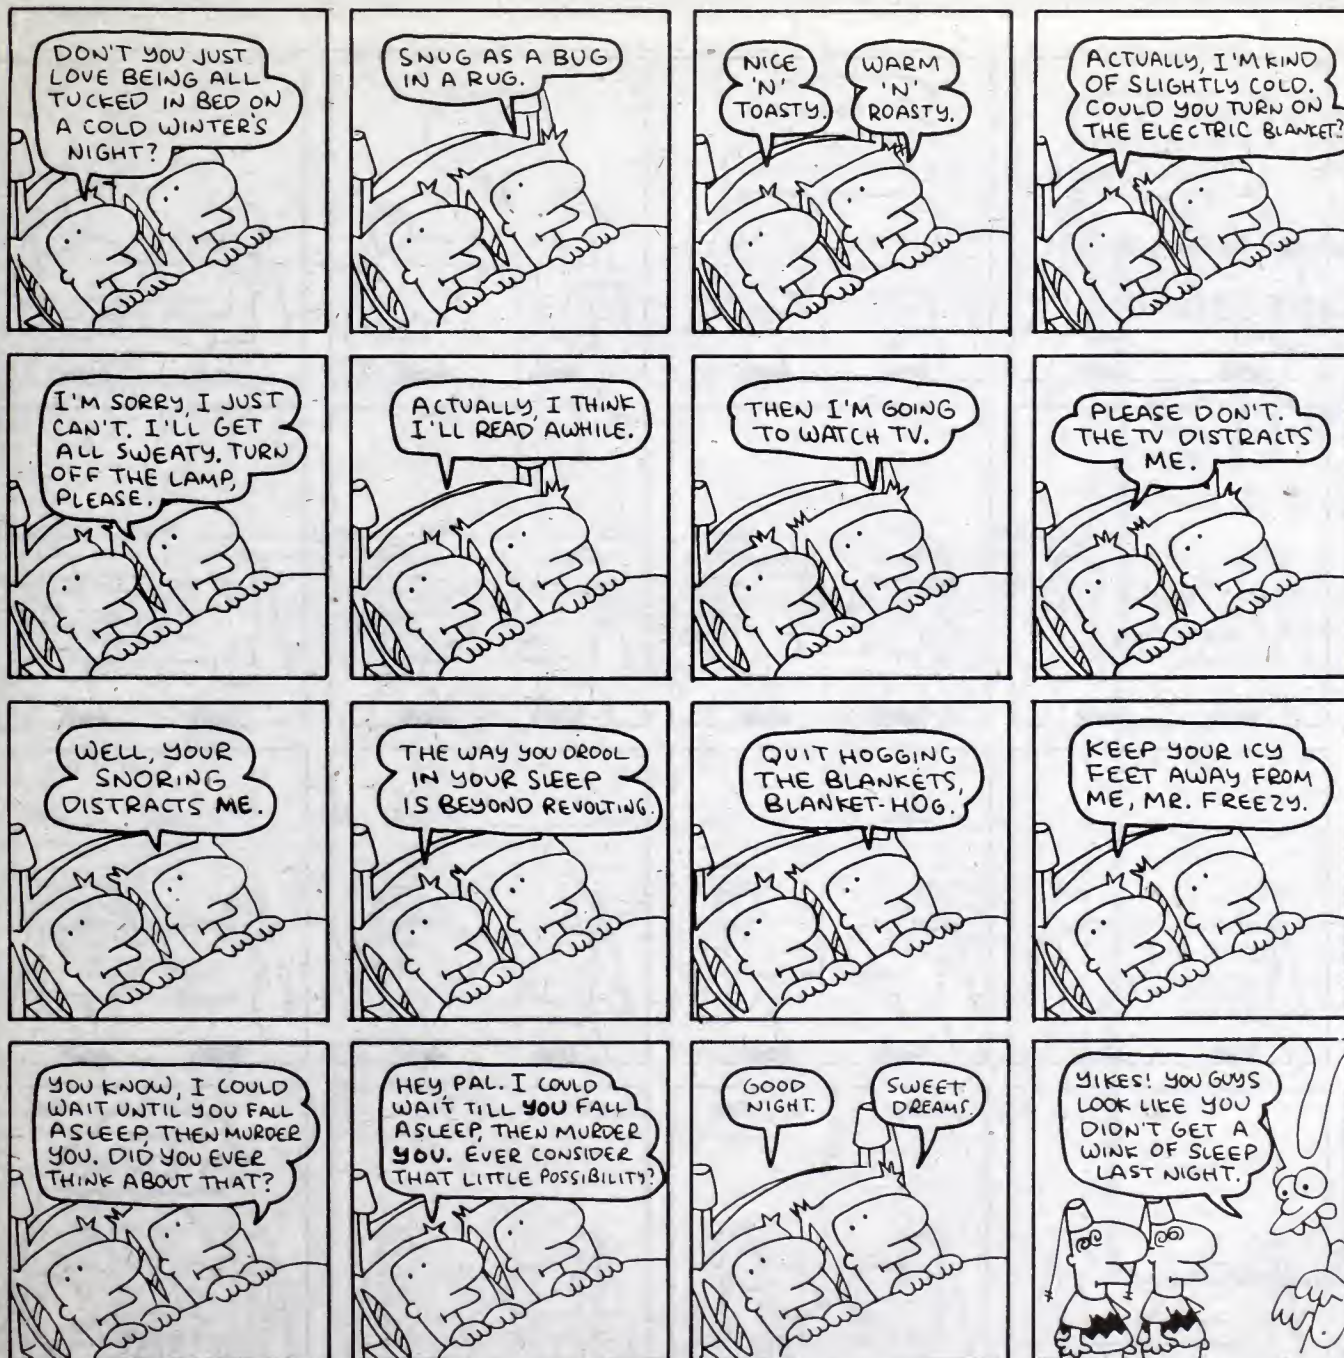

Finally, Kevin realizes that he should have thought of what he was going to say before he said it. Being alone is more than just freedom. One needs love also.

I would seriously recommend you to go a see this picture if you want an evening of laughter and hilarious follies. It is definitely a MUST SEE MOVIE!!

Twentieth Century Fox's comedy "Home Alone", is a John Hughes Production. It is directed by Chris Columbus, who also did "Adventures in Babysitting".

Valley Boyz

Before we begin, we'd like to say just one thing: PLEASE, NO MORE WOMEN! We're booked straight through three or four reincarnations.

Our X-mas holiday started out rather mildly with a few days R&R after the exam period. We threw one of our infamous Valley Boyz parties. We don't expect you guys out there to be familiar with them since no guys are ever invited. The traditional recipe calls for the nine original and Valley Boyz, twenty cases of beer, a case of 40 ounces of Southern Comfort, plenty of 7 up & ice, ten cases of Dom Perignon Moet et Chandon champagne and anywhere between fifty to seventy women. This year's festive opener was remarkable free of puckers since nobody drank the water from the indoor pool. There were however a few scary moments where nearly all the women needed mouth to mouth all at the same time. The Valley Boyz nevertheless held everything under control and none of the women remembered anything from the party. In fact, many of the women don't remember being there at all so if you're wondering why, if the Valley Boyz parties are so great, why doesn't anyone talk about them. Well, you know what they say, it was an awesome party when you can't remember it.

We'd like to apologize to all the people who had hoped for us to attend their holiday parties. We couldn't make it to all of them. We did manage to go to 111 parties although we did miss 317 of 'em. Our chauffeur Mario Andretti is only as fast as our extended limo. We're sure however that we'll be able to make it up over the upcoming year.

Among the many incredible things that happened to us, nothing surprised us more than these two women at a Montreal nightclub who didn't know who we were.

In typical Valley Boyz fashion we entered this nightclub called Dimensions. We remember it particularly well since as we were walking in, the song playing was Thin Lizzy's The Boyz Are Back In Town. Most Montrealers were aware that we were in town so not much of a fuss was raised because of our entrance. A few women rushed over to greet us with smiles and kisses while others admired from afar. That's when two women sitting alone at a table caught our eye. They were very good looking so the Wild Thing and Fuzzy made their introduction to them simply by asking them to dance. Looking quite perplexed indeed, one of them asked: "do we know you?" The DJ dragged the needle off the record and for a moment everyone was motionless. Finally after a few seconds the DJ called for security and the women were taken away. "Man oh man" said Moose they weren't even blondes. Before leaving the joint we managed to wipe out the bar and local dance studs by making their moves seem like they came straight out of Saturday Night Fever. It turned out to be an early night for everyone but us. Instead of calling it an evening we hopped in to our limo and hit every dance bar within a 20 mile radius.

What was nice about it was that only three of those places ran out of booze while we were there. Finally at around 4 in the morning we pulled in to the women's residence at Bishop's University. We were greeted very well by women who had, even at 4 in the morning, nothing but sex on their minds. There was some fighting between some of the women over who was going to sleep with who, but we fell asleep and slept through it all, not knowing what was done to us while we slumbered.

We went home early the next morning and started opening the day's fan mail. Late in the afternoon, when we were halfway through we came across this letter which really amused us. The letter said "... cuz we're the best girls you Boyz could ever dream of...". We decided to go to Calgary to give these cheerleaders a chance to impress us. We had to cancel a few (87) dated to get 3 days off but we thought it might be worth it.

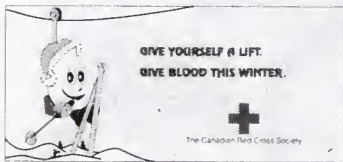

Upon arriving, we were taken by limo to the hall where many fairly beautiful scantily-clad women were awaiting us. As we walked in we were literally attacked. Moose, with his booming voice, told everyone to stop. Then we spoke, Wild Thing softly said: "hey the Valley Boyz aren't only interested in women for sex, you know." Of course that's when Coma said: "were not?" "No were not" replied the Wild Thing. Then Fuzzy jumped in: "Why don't you women tell us a little bit about yourselves first. How about you?" The blonde he had pointed out was a fairly beautiful blonde. She started talking nervously: "Finally meeting you Boyz in my fourth year at the University of Calgary and my goal is to become a veterinarian because I love children". "On second thought, maybe we are just here for sex!" said the Wild Thing. It was obvious that these women were incredibly gorgeous with no intellect whatsoever unlike Laurentian women who have a great mixture of both. However, we did spend the night there in order not to tarnish our reputation but then... We'll tell you next week in part 2 of our holiday adventure. For those of you who are eager to find out how the hecklers slaved for us during the festive season, you'll have to wait till next week. Until then, remember,

We're the Valley Boyz

Sudbury Country

Cold region it is
Where peoples' faces freeze in horror with some horrific expression on their lips but it's not just the wind that blows not just the ice that freezes it is also the soul that freezes and the heart that stops pumping and the mind that stops thinking
but that is not the fear
nor is it the horror.
The answer is doubtful and conclusion unknown.
For it is not the weather that iced,
it was humanity that froze before.
The region just happens to wear the mask.
Humanity is already cold!
